CRISÁLIDAS

The world collapsed, almost all the oxygen in the earth was exhausted and the life took on new forms. Humanity was divided into two groups, one evolved to heights too small to breathe and another group mimed with plants, when they began to live underground.

*It was a slow evolutionary process of millions of years....
Humans created an external respiratory system,
and they began to develop photosynthesis.*

Incests, mollusks and little creatures greatly increased in size ...

But you couldn't breathe ...

*New forms of life appeared.
Varied and beautiful.
The hair became branches.*

And the feet became roots... ..

My name is Carmen Mir Adorna. I am a painter and illustrator, I have worked on many editorial projects. I have mastered manual and digital illustration using the Adobe Photoshop and Illustrator programs. I also work multimedia and videos through Adobe Premier and other editing programs. I can give quick and creative solutions, and work as a team. I also make comics, as well as surreal drawings and paintings, creating characters from the world of fantasy. I work in any genre and technique within the Visual Arts, although my specialty is portraiture.
